BIBLIOGRAPHICAL NOTICE (Reprinted from THE AMERICAN BENEDICTINE REVIEW)

For the record, it is necessary to report that the article, "Augustinian Aesthetics Revisited," which appeared in the September 1969 number of this journal (vol. 20, pp. 342–351) under the name of Frederick Plotkin is an almost verbatim duplicate of an article entitled, "Some Aspects of St. Augustine's Literary Aesthetics, Studied Chiefly in De Doctrina Christiana," by Archibald M. Young and published in the July number of The Harvard Theological Review, 62 (1969), 289–299.

Professor Edward A. Synan of the Pontifical Institute of Mediaeval Studies and the University of Toronto, Toronto, Ontario, Canada, has provided this office with documentary evidence that "what Young published in The Harvard Theological Review is material identical with what he had handed in to me in the fall of 1963." Professor Marcus Klein, Chairman of the Department of English at the State University of New York at Buffalo, informed this office by letters of August 12 and September 15, 1970 that Mr. Plotkin chose not to respond to the evidence and submitted a letter of resignation from his post in that University under the date of August 8, 1970.
